

Young Writers of America
2011 Midwest Region Division I Prize Winner!

Elizabeth Stevens

A Brand New World

What if the world was mended new,
what if the sky was a much brighter blue?

What if the birds could soar so high,
soar so high they could touch the sky?

And all the birds that like to perch
on a pretty little branch of a tall, tall Birch.
What would happen if the grass was green,
And everything in the world could be seen?

Wouldn't that be a much better place,
for everyone to have fun and beanbag race?

Wouldn't it be much better for people to go to church with that large steeple?

Every time, Every day, Everywhere
I really do care.

Would you like to recycle or ride your bicycle?

It would be fun to be green,
for a brand new world to be seen.

There's one more thing I would like to share
to the people everywhere.

Remember what I said about church and the pretty little birds that like to perch?
Well this could all happen if you can help too.

I hope that you will,
so the world is brand new.